Dear Gavin

Fight Match-Fixing – online education course and associated resources

I'm pleased to advise you that Sport NZ's Fight Match-Fixing online education course is now live and available at: www.sportnz.org.nz/fightmatchfixing.

The Fight Match-Fixing course is part of Sport NZ's commitment to supporting national sport organisations (NSOs) to implement the New Zealand Policy on Sports Match-Fixing and Related Corruption (the NZ Match-Fixing Policy).

The course is aimed at helping NSOs educate relevant people in their sport about how to protect themselves from match-fixing. It's particularly aimed at helping athletes, coaches, match officials, support staff and others in the sport sector understand:

- what match-fixing is
- its consequences
- how to recognise and avoid risk
- what they can do to stop match-fixing.

The NZ Match-Fixing Policy requires NSOs to provide match-fixing education. The Fight Match-Fixing course is a tool to help NSOs meet that requirement. NSOs will also need to educate people about their own match-fixing and sports betting rules.

As the designated match-fixing contact at your NSO, we are also sending you hard-copies of the Fight Match-Fixing poster and brochure. These can be used to support the online course, or on their own.

We encourage you to promote the online course. Please also make the brochures available to anyone affiliated with your NSO and put the posters up where they'll be seen, such as commonly used gyms. Copies of the Fight Match-Fixing brochures and poster are also available at: www.sportnz.org.nz/matchfixing.
